To Make a Good Picture
Cow in Calf $20
Working, Not for Money
War Will Vanish

By Arthur Brisbane

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 28.—Here in Los Angeles, where stars are developed and pictures are made, one young man, Paul Bern, who superintends and directs for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, knows exactly what he is trying to do.

In few words he gave information valuable to all directors, scenario writers and actors. "When you make a picture," said he, "ask yourself, 'What do the majority of the people want?'"

Men and women go to the moving pictures to find that which they have not in themselves, or in their surroundings. If it be true that a middle-aged woman in Washington, D. C., went every single afternoon and evening to see Valentino, there was something about Valentino, probably, that was lacking in her middle-aged husband.

The average human being feels the need of many things, energy, intensity of living, free expression of emotion.

Writers, directors and actors will succeed in proportion as they are able to supply what is lacking in the majority of us. It is not easy to know what the public craves. Livingston, travelling through darkest Africa, could not have imagined that the pitiful black children crowding around him were begging for salt. It was that they wanted. Sugar did not interest them.

The livestock exhibition and rodeo begin in Los Angeles tomorrow.

Farmers will be interested to learn from Paul Hill, livestock specialist, of California, you can buy here a good, young, big-boned cow, in calf, for $20. With cows on the hoof, worth only two and a half cents a pound, any man with pastureage could make a profit in buying up cattle.

It was suggested here in a moment of Pacific Coast sunshine and mental relaxation that in days to come men will not work to make money but to do good. An impatient reader asks: "How will you interest men in working, if not to accumulate property?" Did you ever know of anybody working really hard except for money?

Samuel Johnson had the same idea when he said that nobody ever wrote well except for pay, but he was mistaken.

John Bunyan wrote "Pilgrim's Progress" with no thought of pay. And his book has been more widely translated and published than any other except the Bible.

Michelangelo, as he wrote to the Pope, made nothing from his work on St. Peter's Cathedral, except for the benefit to his soul.

If an African warrior kills a lion, he wants as a reward, from 10 to 50 fat, black wives. An English sportsman will gladly kill the lion for nothing. He would reject the wives as superfluous. The day is coming when men will reject as superfluous unnecessary money for which they struggle now.

Lord Robert Cecil, intelligent and sincere worker for world peace, says, "Unless the world disarms it will perish."

The day is coming when war, which is wholesale murder, will be in wholesale murder.

Boothless Elihu Yale Boots Clawless Tigers Over Field

Yale Bowl, Nov. 28 (AP)—The best in the opening week of the Yale Bulldog and the Princeton season, this despite the fact that Tiger renewed one of football's oldest rivalries here today on a bleak gridiron, only moist from yesterday's snowfall.

The snow, removed from the playing field, had been piled along the sidelines and in the end zone, but nothing had been done for the bleated spectators, who were forced to wade an inch of molasses from their seats.

Yale, victorious over Harvard last week and apparently just reaching the peak form, was a strong favorite in the Yale, whose only triumph in date was scored over Am-

McKNIGHT IS ACCUSED IN BANK CASE

BULLETIN
Ezra T. McKnight, president of the Medford Trust Co., is charged by Bank Commissioner Arthur Guy, in an official communication to Dist. Atty. Warren L. Bishop, with taking fees illegally while president of the bank. Other officials of the bank are charged by Guy with violations of the banking laws in connection with loans, the district attorney said today.

Bishop declared that State Detective John Stokes attempted unsuccessfully today to serve papers on McKnight that would prevent him leaving the State.

Six women were carried over fire escapes by firemen and smooches of others fled through smoke-filled hallways today when a two-alarm fire raged through Rochdale Apartments, Blue Hill and Irwin avenues, Roxbury.

CARDINALS DOWN BIG GREEN, 32-6

By BILL GRIMES

Harvard Stadium, Nov. 28—Stanford massacred Dartmouth, 32 to 6, before an estimated crowd of 42,000 people here today.

The Cardinals, led by Ernie Cadell, brilliant right halfback, piled up a commanding lead from the opening minute of play. Cadell scored three touchdowns and his teammates, Harry Hillman and Don Colvin, added the other two.

Stanford's first score came in the second play of the game when Cadell raced 72 yards for a touchdown before the Stadium was filled.

Dartmouth's only score came in the second period, when Morton passed 35 yards to McCall. Dartmouth relied solely on aerial game, but the almost perfect Stanford defense turned most of the Green aerial thrusts into Stanford touchdowns.

Stanford was able to gain at will through the Dartmouth line, while the Cardinal air game kept the Green deep in its territory for most of the game.

Scarcely had the fans seated themselves comfortably than they were brought to their feet, electrified by a thrilling 72-yard dash by Cadell.

JOHNSON DEMANDS ALL U. S. NOTES FOR CHINA, JAPAN

FOUR IN CONGRESS IS PLANNED

Stimson Replies to Criticism From Tokio on "Running Amuck" Charges

Washington, Nov. 23 (AP)—The State Department was called upon today by Senator Johnson, Republican of California, to make public all notes dealing with the Manchurian situation.

"We have had enough of secret diplomacy," said Johnson. "It ought to have all been in the open for, after all, in case anything should arise it is our people who will be involved."

Johnson is ranking member of the foreign relations committee. He left no doubt he intends to bring up the whole Manchurian situation in Congress.

STIMMONS' STATEMENT

Secretary Stimson reiterated today that he found it difficult to credit or understand dispatches telling of a Japanese advance in China.

Meeting newsmen, the secretary said the Japanese foreign office had been "misinformed" when it took exception to a statement he did not make.

Japanese statement was issued on the basis of a dispatch from Tokyo by a Japanese news agency. Stimson marked for the correspondents today certain portions of a stenographic transcript of what he had said yesterday, saying he would stand on them.

On the 23d of November, I asked our ambassador in Tokio to tell Baron Shidehara, foreign minister, I had seen with great apprehension press reports of military expeditions in the neighborhood of Chinchow and that I sincerely hoped that they would stand on them.

"On the 23d of November, I asked our ambassador in Tokio to tell Baron Shidehara, foreign minister, I had seen with great apprehension press reports of military expeditions in the neighborhood of Chinchow and that I sincerely hoped that they would stand on them."

STANDS BY TEXT

In making the stenographic copy, the secretary charged the word "understand" in the last sentence to "credit."

Newspapermen agreed that this would change the sense, and he said "credit" was what he had meant to say yesterday, but that since the word "understand" was in his original statement he would view it to stand.

Ambassador Deluchi of Japan after a call upon Secretary Stimson today that he does not respect Japan's troops to attack Chinchow.

The ambassador said he had not seen the statement issued by the Chinese foreign office criticizing Secretary Stimson and minimized its matters as "really not to be."

Noble's Brother Jailed, Hits 'Plot' on Lifer

Jail doors opened today to receive Charles Montford Noble, elder brother of Russell Noble, the 35-year-old Haverhill boy, who is serving a life term for murder.

Charles Noble was ordered committed to Salem jail from Amesbury district court on an old liquor charge, his probation being revoked because of failure to pay a fine.

His commitment came at a time when he had complicated and confused his brother's fight for freedom by charging that Russell Noble "took the rap" for the real slayer of Mrs. Clara E. O'Brien.

Russell Noble makes no such claim, and denies his brother's story. His fight against the "extenuating circumstances" in that, as he alleges, Mrs. O'Brien invited him to her home on the night of the murder.

Previous investigators hired by attorney George A. Douglas of Boston, new counsel for Russell Noble, are working quietly in Haverhill, while the authorities there are also conducting a new investigation, one group seeking to prove, the other to disprove, the boy's story.

Charles Noble appeared in court at Amesbury today in a Salisbury bench liquor case dating back to September, 1929, when he was originally found guilty of keeping and selling liquor.

Ill-Fated Portland Went Down 33 Years Ago Tonight

Thirty-three years ago, on Saturday night, the ill-fated steamer, Portland steamed out of Boston Harbor to her doom and the doom of 378 passengers.

It was Nov. 26, that year—1898—when Capt. Hollis Blanchard gave the sailing order at 7 p. m. in the face of one of the fiercest gales that ever lashed the New England coast.

SHAKEN BY SEA TRAGEDY

Lately, scores of bodies and wreckage washed up on Cape Cod, miles away, in the opposite direction from the goal of the vessel—Portland.

To this day the details of the great wreck have remained an unsatisfactory mystery, although the sunken wreckage at Stellwagen Banks indicated the old side-wheeler, turned over at that spot.

The world stood the 100 years war, the seven years war, and the dark ages that followed the triumph of barbarism after the darkness of Rome.

It endured the "dark death" that killed one-quarter of all the people in Europe, equal in proportion, to five times as many as were killed in the Great War. This world is able to stand a great deal in the way of brutality and suffering.

The trouble in Asia will probably amount to no more than "punitive expeditions" by skillful Japanese militarists, and the final seizure of such territory as Japan desires. It will not be any real war.

If two of the great civilized nations of Europe start another war, they will deserve all they get, and that will be a great deal.

Grandi, Italy's able foreign minister, congratulates the United States on its attitude in favor of diminished armaments. The Italian's politeness is appreciated, but many Americans are unable to understand why any country except the United States should be consulted as to United States preparedness, or why this country should not be the approval of any other.

France, England, Italy, Germany did not consult this country before 1914 when the big war was brewing. We don't start wars, or want them. We only want to be left alone, and we should keep in condition to enforce that desire at all times.

WALKER VISITS CELL TODAY

New York Mayor in Role of Attorney as He Calls on Famous Prisoner

By JAMES L. McKEAGLE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

San Francisco, Nov. 23 (INS)—This is a red-letter day in the life of Tom Mooney. James J. Walker, his attorney, better known as the mayor of New York city, visits the famous convict in San Francisco prison.

Mooney, now stoop-shouldered, gray-haired and with a prison pallor, is serving a life sentence for the Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco on July 23, 1916, when 10 persons were killed and 40 injured.

Since his incarceration, Mooney's name time and again has been emblazoned on the front pages of newspapers all over the world. He has been the central figure in a series of great legal controversies in California. He has repeatedly been made an international issue. His name, even today, is a symbol to radicals in this country and abroad.

Mayor Walker, who next Tuesday will make a dramatic plea before the Governor of California for a pardon for Mooney on the ground that he is innocent, sees Mooney today in the role of attorney, visiting his client.

Preparations were being made, meanwhile, for the public hearing on Tuesday, when Mayor Walker will present his case. James Walsh and Aaron Sipko, will advocate pardoning Mooney. Governor James Rolph, Jr., will preside at the hearing and the rules of conduct imposed by the Supreme Court upon those who bring before him cases of this kind will be enforced.

Communist party leaders are planning anti-Walker parades past the State building while the hearing is going on.

Let Them Have Part of Their Money Now!

Boston banks are paying out 10 millions of dollars in Christmas savings clubs deposits.

This figure may be higher than a year ago. It is a splendid commentary upon the thrift of the people. It tells a definite fact that there will be "Christmas as usual" in the great majority of homes. Millions of dollars will be put into immediate circulation, assuring continued work for wage earners. A goodly share will go toward relieving the needs of the less fortunate.

Boston is proud of this high mark for savings. BUT WHAT OF THE FLIGHT OF THOUSANDS OF MEN AND WOMEN WHOSE SAVINGS ARE TIED UP IN THE HANDFUL OF INSTITUTIONS TAKEN OVER BY THE STATE TO CONSERVE THEIR ASSETS? These people, too, worked hard to make their deposits in Christmas clubs in these concerns, in anticipation of winter clothing, of making others happy through Christmas gifts, or of meeting any emergency that might overtake them. Now, the Christmas season is upon them. While thousands of others, no more thrifty, no more eager than they to use their savings, are enjoying the returns from their thrift, they find themselves unable to withdraw a penny from their carefully nurtured savings accounts. Many of them are in actual want; still they may not have the money that is theirs.

These temporarily closed institutions are sound, according to banking department officials. Ultimately, depositors will receive all or part of their money back.

Unfortunately, the authors of our banking system made no rules to cover such a situation. So far, no financial gains have been able to work out a plan to release a perfectly safe portion of the deposits without long-drawn proceedings and court actions. Loan sharks consider these deposits good collateral; our banks apparently do not.

The Evening American, not handicapped by any intimate knowledge of banking rules, again suggests that common sense replace red tape and that as large a part of these deposits as is proper be given out at once. This disbursement should apply especially to the Christmas savings clubs in these banks. Surely the bankers in Boston, astute and experienced as they are, can work out a simple plan for making loans on the pass books. Let us not penalize the depositors in these institutions by depriving them of their Christmas cheer.

The Evening American suggests that Governor Ely and the Governor's Council may be very helpful. As public spirited citizens and heads of families, the situation must appeal to their sympathies as well as to their business judgment. This newspaper therefore appeals to them to do this at their meeting Wednesday.

Call the State Board of Bank Incorporation in. Suggest that the members of this board meet with committee of Boston bankers to work out a plan whereby certain specified amounts may be advanced on the pass books of each of the institutions now being directed by the State.

This board consists of Tax Comm'r. Henry F. Long, Banking Comm'r. Arthur Gray, and State Treasurer Charles F. Murray. They can be trusted to protect the State's interests, the assets of the banks, and at the same time to bring relief to those who urgently ask and need it.

May these people count on you, Governor Ely, and your council? THE EVENING AMERICAN KNOWS THEY CAN!

RESCUED MAN SAWED WAY TO 'SAVED' AGAIN MALDEN SAFE

Brockton, Nov. 23—Peter Swilgen's life is just crammed with excitement.

AMES AND INA CLAIRE MADLY IN LOVE

Star, Who Regretted Each of Four Wives, Popular; Lya de Putti Life a Tragedy

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Moving Picture Editor Universal Service.

Hollywood, Nov. 28—There was real grief today in Hollywood when word came that gay, happy Robert Ames and vivacious Lya de Putti had answered the final call within 24 hours of each other.

Hollywood particularly mourned Bobby Ames, happy-go-lucky boy, who always had a smile on his lips, because in the two years as lived here he endorsed himself to the members of the film colony. In spite of Bobby's nature that forbade him to worry about tomorrow, there was a sweetness about him. He loved a good time, he enjoyed his friends and he had an engaging quality that appealed to the other sex.

Married four times, Bobby was looking for romance. His first marriage when he was 20 lasted long enough for him to become the father of a son and daughter. When Bob and his big boy appeared together they were more like two brothers than like father and son. Bob never grew up. He was always the eternal Peter Pan, looking for joy and love in life's most, more than anyone I have ever known.

Then there was Vivienne Segal, musical comedy actress. Losing her heart Bobby became her fool there was a stronger influence than his in her life. He blamed too much family for their separation, and often spoke of regretting they couldn't make a go of it.

REGRETTED HER, TOO
His third wife, Mrs. Muriel Ames, a society woman, had many friends here. A charming woman, her home was the rendezvous for the literary and social set. Bobby, although a born Bohemian, appreciated her fineness and he often spoke of regretting they couldn't make a go of it.

I wonder if he wasn't seeking something more than even these women were able to give him. He thought came to me after I heard of his great admiration for Ina Claire. He talked to me seriously about his one night as a dinner party less than two months ago. Continued on Page 8, Column 2

Today his lawyers were due to file a bill of exceptions and a transcript of the testimony in Supreme Court, preparatory to arguments for a new trial. However, the attorneys asked the court to give them until Monday, and this was done.

FIND "NEW EVIDENCE"

Meanwhile, Atty-Gen. Benjamin M. McElroy announced that he has asked his assistant, Sigmond W. Nichols, to file a motion with the state's highest court, asking that a date be assigned immediately for hearing arguments on a possible new trial in the Hathaway case.

Indications were that arguments could go on in January. However, it was problematical as to when the high court would render its verdict on a new trial.

The new trial plea is based on alleged prejudice against Hathaway in Newport County, on an alleged adverse ruling by the presiding justice in superior court, and on new evidence.

LIBERTY GIFT TO 300 CONVICTS

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 28 (AP)—New York State will make a Christmas present of freedom to 300 convicts.

Many prisoners who have served their minimum terms will be released in time to spend the holiday with their families. Seven of them are women.

Guider emphatically denied the charge, branding it "ridiculously preposterous." Miss McCalla had identified a newspaper picture of Guder as "Richard Franklin."

ESTELLE GOT 'NOTHING'

New York, Nov. 28 (INS)—Estelle Taylor has received no settlement, no alimony—nothing—from Jack Dempsey, who divorced her several months ago in Reno.

"I don't want anything from him," she told this reporter today, when informed that Dame Rumer had it now that she had received $200,000 from the ex-heavyweight champion.

"I haven't even asked for alimony. All I want Jack to do is pay the back bills he ran up before he got the whole thing." Those back bills amount to some $27,000, she declared, obligations undertaken before the final split a little less than a year ago.

'Cat' in Fire Peril Is Saved; Rescuers Flee Quickly

Groping in the smoke-filled cellar of Harry Conant of North Ave., Natiek, Deputy Fire Chief Edward P. Brennan and four firemen pulled a cat to safety today.

Then Chief Brennan and his crew fled for their own safety. It was a beautiful act with nice white stripes down its back and a diamond that soon told the fire ladders their quarry was of the pole variety.

The fire was small but the excitement was great until a bullet of Patrolman Charles Brady snuffed out the life of the rescued cat.

'BOSS' THREAT TO DUST COACH

Newburyport, Nov. 28—Mayor Andrew J. "Boss" Gilks turned his verbal guns on the schools today with a threat to discharge one teacher and stop the pay of an attendance officer.

In the baggage, he took occasion to score the civil service commission. Supt. Starr M. King and charged a "jail" was on to defeat him for re-election.

Delmar F. Borah, head football coach and teacher at the high school, is the teacher Bossy threatened.

"Bossy" also rapped the retention of Jeremiah Lynch as attendance officer, kept on the payroll after the reinstatement of Edward F. Porter, who was on sick leave for two years.

Washington in Hunt for New Ways to Tax Nation

Washington, Nov. 28 (AP)—The latest growth report on the Federal deficit has spurred everybody from the White House to Congress into figuring new ways of raising money. The total for the current fiscal year is pushing for the billion dollar mark. Senators and representatives are putting their own views on record.

Looks Very Much Like Royal Snub by Prince of Wales to King of Comedy

LADY MILBANK CHARLIE CHAPLIN PRINCE OF WALES DUCHESS OF SUTHERLAND

It looks very much as though the king of comedians was being snubbed by the Prince of Wales in this close-up photo of the royal party at the recent ice carnival in London for the benefit of the Northern Hospital. Chaplin, who is said to be climbing high in the British social scale, appears smiling and self-confident—strikingly contrasting with the pained, slightly-annoyed expression of the heir to the British throne. Some say the prince did not approve of the placing of the screen's favorite low comedian at his right hand during dinner. Others said the royal guest was affected by sad memories of the tragic death of Viscountess Rosemary Ednam, who died in an airplane crash the summer before last and who is commemorated by the hospital ward for which the benefit was held. Chaplin chafed most of the evening with Lady Milbank, who is seated at his right, while the prince directed most of his attentions to the Duchess of Sutherland, seated at his left. OIL FUMES FELL FAMILY OF 8

An East Cambridge family of eight narrowly escaped death today when they collapsed from oil fumes in the kitchen stove of their home, 14 Squires st.

With six children and his wife unconscious in the kitchen, Salvatore Dilibio, 44, heroically saved his family by crawling to the kitchen door and calling for aid. The children ranged in age from three weeks to 14 years.

Rescued by Dr. Benjamin M. Cohen of Prospect st., Mrs. Mary Dilibio, 38, said she first sensed something wrong when she heard Santine's crying.

Mrs. Dilibio sent Virginia, 14, to comfort her sister in a bedroom adjoining the kitchen but Virginia collapsed as she passed through the kitchen. Sante ran to the kitchen and also collapsed.

Rushing to the kitchen, Mrs. Dilibio said she found Gloria, an infant of three weeks, overcome in her crib. In quick succession, Thomas, 12; Cecilia, 9; Eleanor, 34, were taken by the doctor. Dilibio, returning, found his family on the floor and himself rapidly becoming affected. Before losing consciousness he crawled to the door to bring aid.

An oil cook stove was burning in the kitchen but a large quantity of oil had escaped from the reservoir.

Edith Riley, 13-year-old Washington "Bai Baby" had real cause to be happy on Thanksgiving this year because of her long dark years she is alleged to have spent in a closet in her father's home. She is shown contentedly gnawing a huge turkey leg at the Thanksgiving dinner in Gallinger Hospital.

H. O. O.'s CAMP

ADVERTISING SEAS BOARDS

New York, Nov. 28 (AP)—For Vittorio Campolo the football seems definitely to lead back to South America.

The sixteen asthenic giant from Argentina lost less than two pounds against the colossus but more ponderous Primo Carnera in Madison Square Garden last night. One volley of lefts and rights sent him to the floor early in the second round and another finished him for the rest of the evening.

This seems to end Campolo's hopes of re-establishing his reputation, which suffered badly when he took a bad beating from Tommy Loughran in 10 rounds and was knocked out in seven by Ernie Schaaf. The new setback, especially with Campolo's consideration of him as a heavyweight contender, is from his own side.

From all last week's viewpoint it was a fight which he lost. The 12000 spectators, perhaps never before saw so fantastic a spectacle. There was the referee, Gusman Smith, a former heavy-weight star himself, turned into a "midget" by Campolo's six feet seven inches and Carnera's six feet six. The huge risk, aggregated 45 pounds Carnera against 260, and Campolo 235.

Campolo Took Final Count Sitting Down

As an exhibition of punching power on Carnera's part, it was not so much for Campolo took the fight, but to show the spectators contemplating the canvas and exhibiting the highest desire to leave a comfortable position.

The "dreadnaught" mixed it freely in the first round with no particular desire to either corner Carnera, who was hit by a punch, a right time and again without drawing more than a raised eyebrow from Carnera, and before the close of the round Campolo created an immense hole for the punches Carnera's use in.

The second round of the 15 round duel had barely opened when Carnera hammered home a half dozen short shots and Campolo went down. He was barely up after 30 seconds but Carnera went on to knock him out in the third round. Campolo was down for the first time in his career.

In eight round preliminaries in which heavyweights, Walter Cobb, Baltimore, knocked out Ted Sandvoss, German, in the second round, Steve Hixson, Baltimore, N. J., knocked out Hans Packer, German, and Stanley Doran, New York, knocked out Ralph Packer, New York.

The show, with 115 top prices, was staged for the benefit of the Jewish charities.

Cardinal backfield men on headgear and haven't much hair. They grow them rough and wear the West end.

The line Stanford cheer leader has been teaching the non-partisan crowd the cheers and is working up a pretty good racket. Especially from the hand waving which is very much in the mouth route.

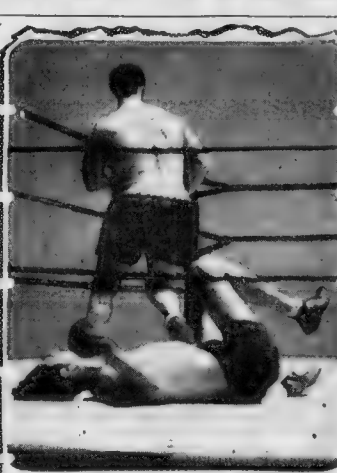

He gets his reward when the five Dartmouth cheer leaders give him an across-the-field megaphone cheer of his own.

The second period was driving to a close when someone in the Dartmouth stands began to chant, "Remember the Yale Game—Dartmouth," and the crowd took it up.

The Stanford squad snarled and applauded as Capt. Harry Hillman, who was in the Yale Game, was introduced as a new player.

When McCullough buzzed that pass in the Dartmouth and now for the first time in the game, the Dartmouth is applied so much pressure that the Stanford backfield is in a new ball.

Hit and run. PRIMO CARNERA knocked out VITTORIO CAMPOLLO in the second round of their bout at Madison Square Garden last night. The camera clicked just as Campolo hit the floor, and shows Carnera about to make a right turn into a neutral corner in order to give the referee a chance to count out the Argentine.

Don't get too excited about Jack Dempsey's comeback bouts in the West against Babe Hunt, Charley Retzlaff and lesser lights. The boys are doing their stuff with 15-ounce gloves instead of with the regulation five ounce mittens.

When man is clothed with a 15-ounce glove it is much like getting boxed with a pillow and not a live man.

If the new figure definitely decides to come back, it is much like getting boxed with a pillow and not a live man.

I LISTENED THE OTHER DAY to the broadcast of a football game, a description so halting, fumbling, unimpaired and dull that I will not even identify it. The first broadcaster, in his first collegiate effort, I found the outcome was quickly dispatched and I continued to listen through sheer inertia. Presently I turned the dial to another sport, and when I reverted to the first one I knew why, although uninterested, I kept on listening.

CRIMSON RAPS AT SHATTUCK REPORT

Treasurer Henry L. Shattuck of Harvard and the university authorities are sharply criticized in an editorial in today's Crimson for scanty information contained in the annual report of the treasurer.

The criticism is aimed chiefly at failure to account in detail for the disposition of the income, except to state that the operating expenses were met.

The latter amounted to $11,466, $10,142, $12,200, greater than the most expensive year Harvard has ever had.

"The report is little more than a gesture," says the Crimson. "Undergraduates should be able to learn more about their University's finances."

The House Plan has exacted an additional expense and is a big issue among them. Why should they not know the total expenses and income of the seven new dining halls where they are eating? How is the money which the large room rents bring in distributed?

"There is no reason to believe the University's finances are not handled honestly and there are few who would doubt that they are not allocated properly. But certain issues are being evaded and a poor precedent is being set."
